Fantasy Adventure Pack

Setting Information

- The world is a place of magic and wonder, where mythical creatures roam free and ancient ruins hold secrets of the past.
- The time period is a medieval fantasy, with kingdoms ruled by kings and queens, lords and ladies, and powerful wizards and sorceresses.
- The location is a medieval kingdom called “Aldorath” a land of rolling hills, dense forests, and snow-capped mountains. The kingdom is split into several provinces, each ruled by a powerful noble. The capital city is “Eldrida” where the king and queen reside.
- The people of Aldorath are a mix of different races, including humans, elves, dwarves, and halflings. Each race has its own unique culture and traditions.
- Magic is a powerful force in the world and is wielded by sorcerers, wizards, and witches. The use of magic is regulated by the “College of Wizards” a powerful organization that oversees the use of magic in the kingdom.
- The kingdom is plagued by various threats, including invasions from neighboring kingdoms, banditry, and the threat of dark magic.

- The kingdom is also home to several factions vying for power, including the ruling monarchy, the powerful noble houses, the College of Wizards, and secret societies.

Special Rule: Magic

A character may use their Luck to cast spells. Each spell or magic ability has a Luck cost associated with it. The cost can be different depending on the spell or ability. When a protagonist wants to use a spell or magic ability, they must spend Luck from their pool. Then rolls the dice to determine the outcome of the action: - No and: the spell fails and the character suffers some other negative effect. - No: the spell fails and the character loses the mana spent. - No but: the spell fails but the character doesn't lose the mana spent. - Yes but: the spell succeeds but with some negative effect or drawback. - Yes: the spell succeeds. - Yes and: the spell succeeds and the character gains additional benefits or advantages.

Luck consumed for casting spells recharges after a rest in a safe area. If a Conflict takes place, Luck points will be based on the current value and reset when the Conflict is over according to the basic rules.
